

Industrial Director Reports

The regular monthly report of William H. Hall, director of the Department of Industrial Development of the city of Sedalia, was read to the City Council by City Clerk Ralph Dedrick.

One of the highlights of the report was the Industrial Appreciation Week held during June, which Hall brought out was another successful display of local industries and what is made in Sedalia.

The full report is as follows: "During the month of June the Industrial Department was involved in various projects including a briefing by the Army Air Defense Command held here in Sedalia relative to the Sentinel Missile System.

"Industrial Appreciation Week was held during the week of June 10, and can be classified as another successful display of local industries and what is made here in Sedalia. We are most fortunate to have the fifty-three separate industries in Sedalia. The director of the department is most appreciative to those who participated in helping to make the week a success. Also, during that week the Industrial Appreciation Banquet was held at the Bothwell Hotel where an expansion for Klasic Manufacturing Company was announced. Klasic will double its size, as well as its work force, in the coming months.

"As a result of discussions held with various industries during Industrial Appreciation Week, the Department of Industrial Development will sponsor, in cooperation with the Missouri Commission on Human Rights, the Sedalia Commission on Human Rights, the Missouri Division of Employment Security, and the Office of Economic Opportunity, a seminar for local industry. The seminar will be based on outlining programs and areas where local industry can recruit and employ people from minority groups among the hard-core unemployed. There was interest generated among industries relative to entering this type of program here in Sedalia.

"With the passage of the tax bill by Congress, the way was cleared for proceeding with the Town & Country project. Plans have been made for the ordinances to be prepared for City Council meeting on July 1. It is hoped that the closing of the project can be completed by the 15th of July and that actual construction on the new plant can possibly begin prior to the 15th of July.

Many of the new Sedalia brochures have been sent to industrial prospects showing them what Sedalia looks like and some of the businesses that are well established in the community.

"During the month our community was visited by an industrial prospect looking for a rather large tract of land as level as possible.

"Also during the month the Olin Company announced its

Independence Man Drowned in Lake

WARSAW, Mo. (AP)—An Independence, Mo., man, Walter Earl Sims, 32, drowned in the Lake of the Ozarks off a beach near Warsaw after a seizure of cramps Monday.

Sims had been swimming with friends. The body was recovered from seven feet of water by Benton County sheriff's officers.

Charter Government Debated Among Jaycees, Councilmen

(By D. Kelly Scruton)

Mayor Ralph H. Walker, Monday night, read to the City Council a report on the budget for the city of Sedalia. The Mayor under the State Law is required under Section 77.300, Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1959, to make a report to the council regarding the annual budget.

The message was first read during the regular order of business of the council proceedings, but at the end of the meeting under Good Will and Welfare a discussion arose when Bob Burke, Director of the Sedalia Jaycees Committee on Community and Development took the floor and asked the council to endorse the

Waves of U.S. Bombers Saturate North Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52 bombers attacked the southernmost part of North Vietnam with the heaviest saturation raids of the war Monday and Tuesday.

Wave after wave of America's biggest bombers—75 planes in all flying from bases in Okinawa, Thailand and Guam—unleashed more than four million pounds of explosives on enemy targets just above South Vietnam's border.

Each B52 carried about 54,000 pounds of 500- and 750-pound bombs.

Nine missions of five planes each hit just inside North Vietnam. Another six missions struck the northern half of the demilitarized zone.

The main targets were North Vietnamese storage areas, caves, bunkers and artillery sites. One aim was to wipe out enemy big guns that have been steadily hammering U.S. combat bases and supply lines just below the eastern flank of the DMZ and firing at allied warships offshore. Another objective was to stem the increasing flow of war materials to enemy troops in South Vietnam.

Such heavy B52 strikes sometimes have signaled a massive American ground sweep. It is most unlikely that American troops plan a sweep into the northern half of the DMZ or above it. But the B52s could be softening up the enemy's artillery to limit their reaction to other U.S. offensives along the frontier.

U.S. sources said the storage areas—caves and bunkers—supply both North Vietnamese infiltrators headed south and the artillery crews attacking South Vietnam's frontier.

The sources pointed out that enemy artillery some of which has a range of 16 miles, has been harassing the big allied supply bases of Dong Ha and Cu Viet, at the eastern end of the DMZ. Dong Ha is also headquarters of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division and the nerve center for allied combat operations along the DMZ.

Will Relocate Traffic Sign On U.S. 65

Marvin J. Snider, chief engineer of the Missouri State Highway Commission has notified Prosecuting Attorney Henry Keeler that W. H. Dill, district engineer, will relocate the speed zone sign further north of the east approach to the intersection of U.S. Highway 65 and Grand Avenue.

This action came in response to a letter written by the prosecuting attorney pointing out the dangerous traffic situation at this location. Keeler maintained that traffic on the last approach of Highway 65 reached the intersection at excessive speeds.

Keeler stated in his letter to Snider that he had checked the intersection independently and with Sheriff Emmett Fairfax. The prosecutor also requested that the Highway Commission investigate the matter and "take whatever steps or measures you feel advisable to alleviate this dangerous situation."

The intersection has been the scene of several traffic accidents recently.

Committees and Boards Are Named By Walker

Various committees and boards of the city were appointed Monday night by the City Council on unanimous approval. Mayor Ralph H. Walker presented the list of names which were quickly approved.

Crown Hill Cemetery Board (3-years) — Harry W. Walch, 711 West Broadway and John Bloess, 607 South Beacon. James Van Wagner, 1629 West Fifth, appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Art Morgan, who resigned running to May 1, 1970.

Board of Trustees Perpetual Fund, Crown Hill Cemetery (3-years) — Arthur Hoffman, 611 West Seventh.

Bothwell Hospital Board (5-years) — William A. Schien, 1220 South Barrett.

Public Library Board (3-years) — Mrs. Robert S. Gardner, 2806 Plaza; C. Ormer West, 2025 Fairview Court; the Rev. Medford Speaker, 408

West 22nd; and Art Morgan, 1910 West Fourth, for the unexpired term of Caralle Johnson, who resigned, running to July 1, 1970.

Board of Park Commissioners (4-years) — John Vandekamp, 406 West Seventh; Jim Grady, 2727 South Kentucky; J. M. Cunningham, 1605 West 16th; Wallace McCown, 1716 West Fifth; Dr. A. R. Maddox, 509 West Johnson; and Virgil Winge, 1619 West Ninth.

Planning and Zoning Commission (3-years) — Keith Yount, 1324 South Barrett; C. H. Gooch, 701 West Cooper; and Jim Mathewson to fill the unexpired term of John O'Brien, running to next May 1.

Police Merit System Personnel Board (3-years) — Gordon Wolf, 1208 South Murray; B. A. Fischer, 1639 Country Club Blvd.

Court Favors Ray's Extradition to U.S.

LONDON (AP) — A British court today granted extradition of James Earl Ray, wanted in the United States as the accused assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The extradition order was granted by Chief Magistrate Frank Milton.

Legal sources said Ray would appeal the decision. The magistrate granted Ray legal aid to pursue his appeal in a higher court within the required 15-day deadline.

Ray received the magistrate's decision without any outward show of emotion.

He was immediately led from court, still surrounded by a cordon of Scotland Yard detectives, and taken back to his maximum security jail at Wandsworth Prison in south London.

The magistrate, sitting at his bench stacked with law books, addressed Ray directly and told him: "You will be committed to prison to await extradition to the United States."

Milton dealt at some length with the contention of defense attorney Roger Frisby that Ray could not be extradited because the slaying of the civil rights leader, shot in Memphis, Tenn., April 4, was a political offense.

The judge agreed it was common knowledge that King was a controversial figure in the United States. But he refused to accept the defense contention that this alone would make the crime of his assassination a political one.

"To hold so would be to extend the meaning of this case too far," the magistrate said.

The case turned on whether the crime was political or not. Under treaty between Britain and the United States, persons may not be extradited for political reasons.

The U.S. government denied Ray's contention that the killing of King was a political crime.

In summing up, Magistrate Milton said he found no difficulty in establishing that there was a prima facie case against Ray in King's murder.

"On this, on the verbal and affidavit evidence before me, there can be no doubt," he said. Milton said no evidence had been produced in Ray's case to show it was not an individual act.

"All I know is that this accused man said he didn't do it," he said.

The magistrate also passed over the question of Ray's identification without difficulty. Ray was arrested in Britain on forged passport and illegal gun-carrying charges under the alias of Ramon George Sneyd.

But the magistrate said: "I find evidence that James Earl Ray is the same person now before me."

Lawyers close to the case said an appeal would be carried to the High Court with arguments on the same political grounds as Milton rejected in Magistrate's Court.

Should the High Court reject the appeal, Ray could go to the House of Lords, which is Britain's highest court. But he could make an appeal to the Lords only on a point of law.

The extradition order against the 40-year-old prisoner was on two grounds—being "a fugitive criminal accused of murder" and "a fugitive convicted of robbery."

This traces to his escape in April 1967 from the Missouri State Penitentiary at Jefferson City, where he was starting his eighth year of a 20-year sentence for armed robbery.

Returned To U.S. By Plane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Eighty-six passengers of an American jetliner hijacked to Cuba returned to the United States today aboard a mercy plane normally used on "freedom flights" to ferry Cuban refugees to Miami.

The chartered plane landed at Miami International Airport at 12:28 p.m., EDT, and the passengers were taken into a quarantine building for questioning and clearance.

The hijacked Northwest Orient Airlines jet, which had 87 passengers when hijacked, returned earlier today from Havana with only the seven-member crew aboard. The hijacker remained behind in Cuba.

Cuban authorities refused to allow the passengers to return on the three-engine 727 jet, claiming Havana's 10,000-foot runway was too short for a safe takeoff.

A chartered, four-engine propeller plane, an Airlift International DC7B was dispatched to Varadero, Cuba, to fly the passengers to U.S. soil.

The Minneapolis-Miami jet was hijacked over Florida Monday night by a Spanish-speaking passenger who boarded the plane in Chicago with a .38 caliber revolver.

The plane's pilot, Capt. Richard Simonson, disputed Cuba's claim that a takeoff with the 86 passengers would have been unsafe.

"There was no safety factor as far as I was concerned, Simonson told newsmen in Miami. "I believe we could have made it out."

A Federal Aviation Administration official in Miami said that under the most adverse conditions 6,000 to 7,000 feet would be safe and 10,000 feet is "more than enough."

The hijacker was in the front row of the first class section when stewardess Margaret Burt asked him to fasten his seat belt.

"He grabbed my wrist and put a gun on me," said Miss Burt.

"About 100 miles north of Miami one of the (stewardesses) called to me and said, 'One of the men in the first class cabin has a gun,'" said Simonson. "Then there was a heavy pound at the door. I had to open the door for safety."

"A Latin-looking man about 35 or 40 with a gun told me, 'Go to Cuba. Go to Havana,'" the pilot continued. "He appeared nervous but when he realized I was going to Havana he became relatively calm."

Radio Havana, monitored in Miami today, said Cuban authorities were investigating the hijacking.

Book on Kennedys Available

A new Associated Press book on a fabulous — and fated — family, "Triumph and Tragedy: The Story of the Kennedys," is now rolling off the presses and is available to our readers.

The book tells the story of the Kennedys from hunger in Ireland to realization, three generations later, of wealth, position and power.

City Tax Levy of $2.15 Is Approved By Council

By D. Kelly Scruton

The levy for the City of Sedalia for the coming year will be $2.15 per $100 valuation upon all real estate and personal property, in accordance with an ordinance passed by the City Council Monday night. The tax has been increased by 10 cents over the previous year as a result of the increased library tax voted this spring.

The tax is broken down as follows:

For the purpose of defraying expenses $1; library support and maintenance, 20 cents; support and maintenance of the public parks, 20 cents; creating and establishing a fund for the firemen's pension, 5 cents; creating a sinking fund for payment of the Bothwell Memorial Hospital bonds of 1955, 4.26 cents; for interest on the Bothwell Memorial Hospital bonds of 1955, 1.17 cents; for creating a sinking fund for the payment of the Urban Plan Trafficway bonds of 1960 and interest, 20.31 cents; creating a sinking fund for payment of the public sewer bonds of 1964, 35.57 cents; interest on the public sewer bonds of 1964, 8.68 cents. Total: $2.15.

Councilman L. D. masters, under Street and Alley, asked permission to buy a belt for loader equipment for approximately $900, which was approved.

Two requests for curb and guttering were approved, one on the south side of 12th Street from Hancock to Marvin and on the west side of Marvin from 12th to the alley to the south; the other on Ninth street from New York to Emmett.

A report by City Engineer Robert Cunningham on the acceptance of the curb and gutter project on Quincy from 14th to 16th was read and accepted. The council then passed an ordinance accepting the work and setting up tax bills for the payment to the J. W.

Given Role At Trial Of Judge

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Orville Richardson of St. Louis, past president of the Missouri Bar, will represent the State House of Representatives in the impeachment trial of Circuit Judge John D. Hasler before the Supreme Court.

Rep. Ronald Reed Jr., D-St. Joseph, and Rep. Ronald M. Belt, R-Macon, today made the joint announcement of Richardson's selection. Reed and Belt were co-managers of the House impeachment hearing last Thursday and Friday that resulted in four articles of impeachment against Hasler, a judge of the St. Louis County Circuit Court.

Hasler, 56, was charged with misconduct, corruption in office and incompetence in office for his personal involvement with the woman defendant in a divorce case pending in his court.

The woman, Mrs. Jean Shelby of Poplar Bluff, and her estranged husband, Delmar Shelby of St. Ann, were the key witnesses in the hearing before the House.

Richardson is president elect of the American Trial Lawyers Association and is considered one of the outstanding trial lawyers in the country. Reed said in making the announcement.

Reed said he and Belt would participate in the Supreme Court hearing of the Hasler case, probably in August, but that Richardson would have the principal burden in proving the charges against the jurist.

Supreme Court Judge Fred L. Henley, who will preside, said no date for the trial has been set but the court would move as expeditiously as possible in the case.

Russians Prepare To Release Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today that the Soviet government has ordered the release of a troop-laden American airliner after receiving an official U.S. expression of regret that the craft violated Soviet air space over the Kurile Islands.

Press secretary George Christian said Llewellyn Thompson, U.S. ambassador to Moscow, relayed word shortly after 11 a.m. EDT that the Soviet government had given instructions that the DC-8 jet chartered by the military from Seaboard World Airlines be released along with the 229 Americans aboard.

The plane, carrying troops to Vietnam via Japan, was forced to land Sunday night after being intercepted by Soviet MIG fighters.

In response to a question, Christian said "The United States has expressed regret in a note given the Soviet Embassy last night" that the airliner violated Soviet air space due to a navigational error.

Christian said he had no further information on the subject, nor could he say where the plane would go from the Kuriles.

But he added: "We have reason to believe the matter is going to be resolved shortly."

He said the matter would be resolved once the plane actually left Soviet territory.

Christian was asked if President Johnson had been in touch with Moscow about the matter. He said no, that the entire question had been handled through normal diplomatic channels.

The State Department said Monday that Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin told U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow merely that the matter was under investigation. He gave "no assurances" of prompt return of the plane.

Recommendations Made By Rights Commission

The Sedalia Human Rights Commission, submitted the following seven recommendations to the City Council Monday night:

That steps be taken to require all law enforcement officers to attend a yearly training seminar dealing with both effective law enforcement and human relationships.

That equal law enforcement be applied for all segments of society. (The commission noted that while prostitution and the sale of liquor to minors are both illegal, both "are allowed to continue, sometimes with the unintentioned support of the police force.")

That the City Council enact a fair housing ordinance to support recent federal legislation in this area.

That a Housing Authority be established whereby a program of housing for the disadvantaged might be implemented.

That all city agencies be encouraged to display the equal opportunity employment poster and hire on a non-discriminatory basis.

That the City request federal funds for slum clearance.

That the City Council approve and help sponsor an Employees Seminar on the Employment of Minority Groups, leadership and funds for which will be supplied by the Missouri Commission on Human Rights, Jerry Belenker, chairman.

The report listed activities that have already been accomplished by the commission, such as a 1967 meeting with high school seniors not planning to go to college for a discussion of job placement; an investigation of a complaint of employment discrimination; arrangement of meetings of clergy and other interested citizens relative to public housing; formation of a youth panel which discussed the problems of human rights in our city on television and in a high school assembly; memorial march and services in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.; and a meeting with the sheriff, police chief, and mayor to discuss ways and means of preventing possible riots in Sedalia.

"We have only the desire to be of service to all people who feel that their rights have been violated, and we seek to eliminate the perpetuation of discriminatory practices in accommodations, employment, housing, etc., when it is done on the basis of race, creed, sex, or color," the report concluded.

Peace-Loving Girl Needs Right Man

Dear Ann: Am I a nut? Frankly, I feel great. I'm not even ashamed. All my friends think I'm an oddball because I'm 29 and not married. They swear I'm putting on a brave front to hide my misery.

I enjoy men — especially the high-voltage, conversational type. I like a fast game of tennis with a first-rate male player. I love to dance. I'm not immune to a physically attractive man who has a brain to go along with the brawn. And I've even been "involved" with a few gentlemen. But the thought of a double harness for life is most unappealing. No thanks.

I have an excellent job and I enjoy my work. I still live with my parents (which many friends consider odd), but we get along famously and I conduct my life with no interference whatever. Why should I trade this for housework, squalling kids, whooping cough shots, diapers, mortgages, and maybe even a two-timer or an alcoholic?

I'm not knocking marriage, Ann. For those who need it, it's wonderful. But why do people think there's something strange about a woman who doesn't want it? I wish my friends would quit pushing. I'm a contented gal. Can you think of anything that would change my mind? — PEACE-LOVING PEARL

Dear Pearl: Yes. The right man.

Dear Ann Landers: You are a menace to society. The morals of our country have never been in worse shape. If ever we needed a figure of authority in family life it is now. Yet you take every opportunity to cut down the male as head of the house and make him look foolish and weak.

American men are losing ground every day. Women own most of the property, most of the securities and most of the real estate. They run everything, including the government. (The wives of the country's leaders make the decisions and tell them what to do.)

What we need is an advice columnist who will tell women to stop being so baddy — to sit back and keep their mouths shut. Of course you won't print this letter because you have no answer. — ONE OF THE OPPRESSED

Dear One: I never made the statement that women are superior to men nor did I say they were smarter. But come to think of it, did you ever hear of a woman marrying a dumb man for his shape?

Dear Ann Landers: I want to help the woman who wrote that she is a nervous wreck because her husband insists on smoking in bed. She said he fell asleep with a cigaret in his hand the other evening and burned a hole in the carpet.

I have a solution for this problem. It could save some lives. Please print it. Cigaret smokers should train themselves to hold the cigaret between the third and fourth fingers. It can never drop and anyone who falls asleep with a cigaret between the third and fourth fingers will wake up fast — as soon as the cigaret burns down that far. — MRS. D.R.Z.

Dear Mrs.: I checked out your theory with my cigaret smoking friends and they say you are right. Many thanks.

Dear Ann Landers: If you were 21 would you marry a young fellow who has no bank account, a few small debts, a mother to look after, a very good job, lots of ambition and unlimited faith in the future? — UNDECIDED

Dear Undecided: I did — and today we are celebrating our 29th wedding anniversary.

Uses Television

BOSTON (AP) — Television has been used by a doctor to interview, examine and diagnose a patient miles away.

Massachusetts General Hospital demonstrated the new technique Saturday. A doctor at the hospital and a volunteer patient three miles away saw each other on television screens and spoke over a radio hookup.

The doctor used his television screen to view charts, X-rays and electrocardiograms. Aided by a nurse with the patient, the doctor got direct readings of blood pressure, heart beat, pulse and respiration.

Dr. Kenneth T. Bird, associate physician at the hospital, developed the television technique and called it "an extension of the usefulness of the physician."

Music Becomes More Popular in America

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Americans are becoming more musical. We now have more than 44 million amateur musicians, compared to 20 million in 1950. One in every 4.6 persons plays an instrument. More than twice as many play the piano as the guitar—23.5 million to 11 million. But, alas, the number who can still strum a ukulele has fallen in 10 years from 1.5 million to a half million.

If you have trouble telling boy-teen-agers from girl-teen-agers, you'd have even more difficulty with oysters. These bivalves are ambisexual—that is, they change sex several times during their lifetime, him this year, her next year, him again another year.

Equal rights are only hearsay to the women of Morocco's mountain tribes. They arise at 4 a.m., to grind grain and work until long after dusk. Their husbands, however, plow in the fields only from 9 a.m. until noon, and then knock off for the day. Despite their long hours of labor, few Moroccan women ever seek divorce. Any other man they married would expect them to work just as hard.

The United States will never really run out of potential space to park its automobiles. One-third of its total land area is still forested.

Quotable notables: "Money is like a sixth sense—and you can't make use of the other five without it."—Somerset Maugham

Few people realize the weight of rainfall. It is estimated that a four-inch rain will drop nearly two million tons of water on a seven-square-mile area—enough to make a fair-sized lake.

The gadgets science creates primarily for the battlefield sometimes find peaceful uses, too. An example is the heat-sensitive infrared scanning equipment developed to help troops in Vietnam detect enemy movements at night. It is being employed by University of Michigan researchers in forest fire detection and control and to trail and count wildlife herds.

Exploding knowledge: Many middle-aged men feel like they'd like to go back to college and start all over again. It might not be a bad idea. Four times as much information has accumulated since 1935 as was known from all the years of history that went before. And our present known fund of data is expected to double within another 15 years.

Worth remembering: Advice scribbled on a Hotel Edison menu: "Learn from the mistakes of others; you can't live long enough to make them all yourself."

2 Out of Africa

Do not obtain your slaves from Britain, because they are so stupid and so utterly incapable of being taught.

—Cicero

American Negroes, with an awakened interest in their African heritage, are rediscovering cultures that history has ignored.

While nothing comparable to the great civilizations of ancient Egypt, Mesopotamia, Greece or China ever emerged in Africa, not all of that continent languished in primitive savagery before the coming of the white man.

Medieval empires like Ghana, Mali and Songhay, with its famed city of Timbuctoo, exceeded those of contemporary Europe in size and rivaled them in administrative organization. European and African kings exchanged diplomatic courtesies. High artistic skills were practiced by the peoples of Benin and Ife.

From the beginning, slavery followed the contact of Africans with other peoples—and with each other. At a time when much of the population of the ancient world was slaves, color was no sign either of servility or superiority. The enslavement of whites along with blacks continued into the Christian Era.

The Moslems dominated the African trade in the Middle Ages, but in the 1400s, the Portuguese began transporting Negroes to the Iberian Peninsula. Descendants of these slaves accompanied the Spaniards to the New World.

Thirty of them stood with Balboa on the shores of the Pacific; 300 of them helped Cortez conquer Mexico. The first "white men" ever seen by many Indians were Negroes.

One of them, Estevanico, discovered Arizona and New Mexico in 1538. Three centuries later, the Negro-French explorer Jean Baptiste Pointe du Sable was to found Chicago.

It was the peculiar disposition of the Indians to die when enslaved that was responsible for the greatest migration of human beings in history.

In 1517, fearful that the Indians would soon be killed off, the missionary Bishop Bartholome de las Casas recommended that Negroes be imported from Africa, a solution whose evil he later realized.

So successful was the experiment—black men were found to make equally as good slaves as white men historically had—that the red man, no longer needed, was wiped out all the more quickly.

Adrienne Long, George Sellers Exchange Nuptial Vows in May

Knob Noster — Miss Adrienne Jean Long and George Thomas Sellers exchanged wedding vows at 7:30 p.m. May 25 at the First Methodist Church, Indianola, Iowa with Dr. Glen Lamb officiating in the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Long, Indianola, and the groom is the son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Marvin H. Sellers, Knob Noster.

An arrangement of pink and white carnations banked by candelabra holding pink tapers decorated the altar, with pink candles and greenery marking the bridal aisle.

Miss Barbara Stone, soloist, sang "Song of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Helen Salbert Smith, organist, who also played a prelude of nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white linen with Venice lace underlying the deep inverted pleat bow the A-line skirt front. The bodice featured a deeply squared neckline and three quarter length sleeves edged with lace. Her chapel length train fell from a lace band encircling the bodice and was accented with tiers of Venice lace. She wore a short silk illusion veil attached to a small pill box hat covered with Venice lace and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and daisies.

Miss Kathleen Piffer, Indianola, was maid of honor and Miss Nancy Alexander, Lee's Summit and Miss Carol Wisdom, Indianola, were bridesmaids. They wore identical floor length A-line gowns of mint green linen styled with short sleeves, trimmed with white lace and moss green velvet at the neckline. Their headpieces were large fabric bows, trimmed to match their dresses and they carried colonial bouquets of white roses and pink carnations.

Misses Marsha and Peggy Herndon were candlelighters and wore blush pink linen floor length A-line gowns trimmed with white lace and rose velvet pink ribbon. They wore pink carnation headpieces.

James Sellers, Knob Noster, served as best man, while groomsmen were Robert Goetz, Jr., Warrensburg, and Roger McFall, Pennsylvania. Jack Augustine, Indianola, and Ronald Trout and Michael Fisher, Ottumwa, Iowa, served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Long chose a pale pink linen floor length gown and wore a pink sweetheart rose corsage. The groom's mother, Mrs. Sellers chose a mint green floor length gown and corsage to match the bride's mother.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was decorated with a white cloth, pink candles and pink roses. The four-tier wedding cake was decorated with a cascade of fresh pink tea roses. Servers were Mrs. Raymond Linthicum and Mrs. Dorell Long, Mrs. Roy Lawson, and Miss Sharon Pipkins, and members of the Wesleyan Service Guild. Miss Kenneth

Dedication Ceremony

ST. CROIX ISLAND, Maine (AP) — Dedication ceremonies for establishment of a national historical site on the spot where North America's first Christmas celebration was said to have been held in 1604.

Officials from the National Park Service and the State Parks and Recreation Commission were at the ceremonies on this tiny island in the St. Croix River in northern Maine.

The island was the site of the first European settlement on the Atlantic coast north of Florida. French explorers Sieur de Monts and Samuel de Champlain led a group of about 100 colonists.

Test Ice Cream Cones Aboard Ship

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Here's a scoop. The Navy is conducting an experiment aboard the guided missile cruiser Springfield to determine the feasibility of serving ice cream in cones aboard ship.

The 30-day experiment began June 14 while the Springfield, flagship for the commander of the U.S. 2nd Fleet, was in the torrid Caribbean.

If it's successful, ships with soft-serve ice cream machines will be authorized to buy wafer cups, and ice cream cones will be available when the ships are in port.

It has been estimated that 12,000 people drift in and out of St. Peter's in Rome on a usual day.

Fire Hydrants Are Tapped Illegally

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The temperature hit an official high of 96 degrees Monday and brought a wave of illegal fire hydrant taps which lowered the water supply to a trickle in some homes in Philadelphia.

Water Commissioner Samuel Baxter said more than 1,000 hydrants were tapped, and about 700 complaint calls were received by his office.

Hickory Chip Producer Speaks To Civic Clubs

Bob Rigby, Lincoln, Missouri, operator of the Ozark Hickory Chip Company of Lincoln, told Rotarians and Kiwanians of his business operation on Monday noon at Hotel Bothwell. Because of the Independence Day holiday, Kiwanians met with the members of the Rotary Club this week.

Rigby's company produces hickory chips for use in home and commercial barbecuing. The company markets its product as far east as Boston, as far west as Denver and to the Canadian border in the north. It has a relative small market in the south. In addition it produces and packages hickory chips for four major charcoal companies.

Rigby discussed the business, purchasing hickory wood for fifty cents per hundred pounds, cuts it into chips by machine and dries the chips at 220 degrees for two hours to kill any larvae and to reduce moisture content to about 7 per cent. There are some 30 people employed in the operation. There are some two hundred competitors in the business, according to the speaker. Rigby, who had been in advertising and sales management for several national companies before going into business in Lincoln, stated that small business was more demanding for talent and intellect than large business, because the operators had to know all phases of the operation from production to marketing.

The speaker was introduced by Douglas Groom, July program chairman for the Rotary Club. Guests in addition to members of the Kiwanis Club were Lt. John Richards with Dr. Lawrence Leiger, and Phil Wiland, guest of LeRoy Luchs. Also introduced were William Dugan, president of Kiwanis, Roy Brown, vice-president, and Pinkney Miller, secretary. Harry Walch handled the introductions.

Dr. Stanley Fisher, Rotary Club president, presided. Abe Rosenthal led in group singing with Mrs. Lillian Maynard playing the piano accompaniment.

Atkinson Construction Co. Councilman Ray Simons asked permission to purchase 50,000 parking tickets for $850. The request was approved.

Simons then had the resignation of Larry C. Melton read. Melton resigned as a patrolman on the police force effective July 14, which was accepted. He explained he was accepting a position with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Councilman Leo Letourneau announced the steering committee for a proposed bond issue for a new City Hall would meet at the City Hall on Wednesday night.

Bids were opened from Texaco Inc., American Oil Co., AG Co-Op, Gulf Oil Co., Skelly Oil Co., Mobil Oil Co., and Sinclair Refining Co., on gasoline, oils and grease for the coming year. The bids were referred to the Finance and Tax Committee to accept the best and lowest bid.

Other ordinances passed were: authorizing the issuance of general obligation industrial bonds totalling $1,050,000 to be used to build the new Town and Country Shoe Co., factory; ordinance vacating an alley right-of-way between New York and Emmett from 13th to 14th streets; ordinance vacating Crockett Street from Ninth to 10th streets; establishing a street light at Park and Morgan; ordinance for a loading zone on the north side of West Main Street in the 200 block.

A resolution to bring to the established grade 11th Street from Quincy and Stewart for the purpose of installing curb and guttering was passed.

The following liquor licenses were approved: five-per cent package beer license to Krogers, Broadway and Warren; liquor by the drink licenses for the Bothwell Hotel, and Albert Haan for The Town Pub, 110 West Second.

The following departmental bills were approved for payment: General and Administrative $1,817.15; Airport $223.53; Fire $4,968.34; Police $1,774.53; Street and Alley $12,115.59; Sanitation $945.67; Sewer $5,599.88; Public Buildings and Grounds $122.72; Industrial Development $1,648; Lights and Water $14.32, and Parking $157 for a total of $29,386.73.

Charter

for it or vote it down. I think if it should take more time for discussion, then we should do it. I also believe that the council vote in the matter should be unanimous."

Jim Buckley, local attorney, told the council they should give the people a right of choice as to what they want.

On the motion to table, Councilmen George Miller, Leo Letourneau, and Masters all voted no, while Councilmen Jesse Robinson, James Schumaker, R. N. Snavely, Wells and Simons all voted to table.

City Clerk Ralph Dedrick read the following report as compiled by Mayor Walker: "The 'Crisis of American Cities' is becoming just as real in Sedalia as it is in almost every community in the country."

"There are basically two reasons. First, state legislatures are very reluctant to grant the necessary power to cities enabling them to solve their own problems."

"The answer is of course, greater home rule autonomy which Sedalia is considering at the present time. Our state constitution does grant to each community of 10,000 population and over the right to draft its own city charter, spelling out the rights, duties and powers of its local government. Nothing could do more to improve city administration, nor is anything more necessary than writing our own home rule charter."

"This absolute need will be even more apparent in the coming years as problems increase and state-granted powers remain constant."

"That there are now approximately 15 constitutional charter cities in the state proves the urgency with which Sedalia should consider the advantages of home rule."

"The second crisis is one of finance and is caused by municipalities not having a source of revenue tied to inflation. Both federal and state government have the advantage of income taxes which increase as income increases."

"Even though every city is required to increase and broaden services, purchase equipment and supplies at ever-increasing costs, it is estimated that it will cost $32,000 for electric power to operate our three new sewage treatment plants next year and improve salaries of employees. It can only look to revenue that is essentially the same year after year."

For example, total revenue for fiscal year 1966-67 was $1,119,177.15 while our anticipated income for 1967-68 will be approximately $1,115,588, a decrease of $3,500.00.

Considering this in view of the fact that budget needs in all departments for coming year are $192,500 more than last year shows us quite clearly that Sedalia is now faced with a major financial problem."

After cutting each department as much as possible the city will still be short approximately $142,000 to finish the next fiscal year. It is quite obvious then that we must either find a new source of revenue or give serious consideration to curtailing some city services."

"It will be necessary to also cut back our reserve from 7 per cent to 6 per cent, the minimum necessary to maintain reasonable financial security."

"No one likes the thought of increased taxes or city charges particularly since the federal tax burden is so large. It is ironic that a great portion of federal income comes from the cities where it is admittedly

Securities Messengers Giving Way to Computer

NEW YORK (AP) — In the belated and sometimes frantic effort to sweep away the paper that now clogs the flow of data among the nation's brokers, a familiar financial district character is being put into gradual retirement.

This is the little old man who scurries through the teeming alleys and narrow streets of the financial district here, poor as a pensioner, but momentarily possessing many thousands of dollars in securities.

This messenger—there are hundreds of his type—always can be spotted because his clothing isn't as fine as that worn by most financial men. But some people feel that, relative to his minimum wage, he is as hard a worker as any in the financial district.

Now the impersonal efficiency of electronic computers, the advent of the technological age on Wall Street, will handle much of his work and do so with more than his shuffling speed. Stocks theoretically will be more secure also.

The reduction in numbers of these messengers—and the first fundamental assault on the paperwork problem—comes with the beginning of what is called the Central Certificate Service of the New York Stock Exchange.

When this service is in full use, sometime near the end of 1968, it will mean that a great majority of the certificates that messengers now carry from brokerage house to brokerage house will be contained in one depository.

When a trade is made a computer merely will make a bookkeeping entry, adding the stock to the buying broker's account and subtracting it from that of the seller's. Since the stock certificates never will leave the big vaults, the messenger no longer will be needed to rush certificates from broker to broker.

This doesn't mean that all physical transfers will be ended, for not all stock certificates are held in "street name," meaning that although owned by individuals they are left for safekeeping with the broker.

Although such certificates make up only 15 per cent of the shares listed on the Big Board, they are by far the most active ones. In fact, they account for most of the activity; they are owned by traders rather than long-term investors.

Since these shares are so active they also account for a great deal of the paperwork that, by its volume, is ensnaring the nation's financial communities, making attempts for on-time deliveries mere futile gestures and reducing bookkeeping to a dangerously chaotic mess.

By keeping the certificates in common vaults—the locations of which the exchange declines to divulge—it is hoped that brokers will be relieved of the burden of storing, inspecting, counting and recording shares. Primitive disorder will have been replaced by modern efficiency.

The storing of all street-name certificates through the letter C has been completed. And as more certificates are deposited each working day, more physical transfers will be eliminated.

Eventually, almost all street-name certificates of the New York and American exchanges will be included. And some day, it is hoped, over-the-counter stocks—those not listed on any exchange—will be stored in the depository.

The next step in this automated bookkeeping will further reduce paperwork, and with it the number of menial jobs. This step is to replace the certificate itself; after all, why print fancy certificates to lie dusty in vaults?

The solution is fraught with problems. First, the laws of many states must be changed, just as they were changed before the Central Certificate Service was activated. But there is much more also.

Ideally, what is required is a piece of paper that can be read by a machine, which is acceptable as absolute proof of owner-

Slated to Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of business economists says the country's current economic boom will slacken in the second half of this year.

However, Tilford C. Graines, vice president and economist for Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., of New York, says the demand for credit will remain high and "interest rates should remain close to present high levels for most of the balance of this year."

He said the nation's inflation and balance of payments problems are so severe that the Federal Reserve System will continue to keep a tight rein on credit until it's convinced higher taxes are slowing the economy.

He was one of six economists who appeared Sunday at a business outlook conference sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Hughesville Club To Hold a Social

HUGHESVILLE — The Hughesville Betterment Club will hold its annual ice cream social July 4 at the Hughesville Community Park from 6 to 9 p.m.

The charge for ice cream and cake will be 25 cents. Fireworks will not be sold, but persons having them are invited to use them after dark are invited to do so.

Putting Foot in Mouth

When a person makes a tactical or embarrassing blunder it is often referred to provincially as "putting his foot into it," or "putting his foot into his mouth."

A friend calls my attention to the Adam and Eve editorial in Sunday's paper and requests that I read Genesis, chapter two because I didn't describe the Garden of Eden episode accurately; and anyhow, there were no bananas in the orchard. So, who today was there?

Well, maybe I put my foot in it but if so I've got plenty of company among acquaintances who have had the same experience quoting out of context, or perhaps speaking in contradictions.

This occurs even in fast company like the President of the United States. And, of course, it would be the Republicans who would make something out of it. Let's see how they do it.

The GOP's Weekly Newsletter quotes this paragraph from the June 10 comment by LBJ:

"Are the seeds of violence nurtured through the public's airwaves, the screens of the neighborhood theatres, the news media and other forms of communication that reach the family and our young?"

Although the President was speaking interrogatively, the GOP presumes he was really drawing a bead on all communication media. If so he sparked fire from the Republicans. A Newsletter editorial indicates LBJ put foot in mouth as Confucius might say. Here's the GOP answer to the President's question:

"If LBJ wants the answer to the question posed the other day to members of his newly-created Presidential Commission to Investigate Violence, perhaps one place to start is his own TV station in Austin.

"The LBJ station, KTBC-TV, is known in the business as a 'cherry picker' since it is the only one in Austin and is, therefore, permitted to pick and choose from the programming of all three major networks. What programs does the LBJ station select for showing to the families and youngsters of the Austin area?

"A look at KTBC's scheduling for one week lists some of the best of the shoot-'em-up shows, including The Avengers, The Invaders, Mission Impossible, Gunsmoke, Felony Squad, NYPD, Rat Patrol, Garrison's Gorillas, FBI, Guns of Will Sonnet and To Catch a Thief.

"Does KTBC plan to cut back on such programming in the wake of LBJ's concern? If it does, it's keeping it pretty quiet. In fact, the station's president and general manager, J. C. Kellam, wouldn't even talk to the Newsletter about it.

"If LBJ wants to pursue his question, Mr. Kellam's number is 512-GR 2-2424."

Anti-Violence Campaign Finds Favor

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — In response to our columns on TV violence, thousands of advertisers, broadcasters and viewers have written or phoned us that they wish to join in the campaign to eliminate bloodshed from the home screen. Here are the heartening developments:

1. An outpouring of mail has come from aroused parents who have resolved to turn off TV programs that feature violence, and not to buy products of companies that sponsor TV violence. Some parents have told us that they also intend to stop buying toys and other weapons for their children.
2. A group of advertising men, calling themselves Advertising Men for the De-escalation of Violence on TV, has formed on Madison Avenue. Its members agree to urge clients to stop sponsoring violence on TV.
3. Levi Strauss and Co., makers of slacks, shirts and jackets, has dropped its sponsorship of violent programs. After we identified the company as sponsor of one of the worst shows on television, C. M. Robinson, Jr., the advertising manager, wrote us: "We were tempted to strongly disavow any responsibility for programming which is really controlled by the networks... as I said, this was our first reaction. We are now convinced that you are right and that it is our responsibility to consider program content."
4. Network officials, producers and writers have been reappraising their programs. CBS has taken the lead in editing excessive violence out of future scripts. The other two networks also have rewritten and refilmed some violent episodes.
5. Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., has revived his investigation into TV violence. Six years ago, he suppressed evidence that would have embarrassed his friends on the TV networks, particularly NBC. We happen to have copies of the documents he suppressed, which we promise to publish if he tries again to throttle the investigation.
6. Several newspapers have joined in the outcry against TV brutality and bloodshed. Editorials from coast to coast have called for a cleanup of the TV screen.

—Power of the Public—

The most effective way for the public to get better television, however, is to stop patronizing the sponsors of TV violence. At our request, the National Association for Better Broadcasting has listed the 10 TV shows their experts consider "most detrimental" for children. Their judgment is based upon 17 years of responsible TV monitoring.

Their list of the 10 worst shows on TV includes (1) The Avengers, ABC; (2) Felony Squad, ABC; (3) Guns of Will Sonnet, ABC; (4) Cimarron Strip, CBS; (5) Man from U.N.C.L.E., syndicated; (6) Batman, ABC; (7) Wild, Wild, West, CBS; (8) The Saint, NBC; (9) Rat Patrol, ABC; and (10) Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea, ABC.

"All 10 of the programs are excessively violent and graphically illustrate, terror, horror, brutality and sadism," Frank Orme, the NAB's executive vice president, reported to us. "All 10 are televised

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Girl Scouts in their first collection of waste fats for the war effort collected 860 pounds from Sedalia housewives. They plan to make collections each month with a goal for July of 1,000 pounds. Mrs. Abe Bertman, finance chairman of the Scout Council, is chairman of the fat drive and members of her committee are Mrs. A. A. Ferguson and Mrs. Paul Hedderich.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Further laurels were added to the Sedalia Boys' Band when it captured first place in the band contest held at the Modern Woodmen Encampment in Lincoln, Neb. It also headed the Rainbow Parade of Modern Woodmen. John de Young is director of the band.

NINETY YEARS AGO

Marshal Smith has sold about 100 dog checks. As there are about 18,000 dogs in Sedalia, there must be 17,900 subject to be shot down at any minute. This is a terrible thing to contemplate, but there is only one way to help it, and that is to step right up and buy your dog a check.

during time periods when the sets are readily accessible to almost all children."

Orme also condemned what he called "The Saturday Morning ghetto of animated horror." The worst of these cartoon shows, he said, are Super President, Superman, Birdman, Herculeid, Super Six, Might Mightor, Space Ghost and Samson and Goliath.

Parents can check for themselves which companies sponsor these kill-for-thrill programs. However, we have gone through the sponsor lists and picked out the companies which have spent the most money on TV violence.

We found more Polaroid camera commercials than any others on the programs condemned by the Better Broadcasting group. Polaroid spent $9,377,000 for TV advertising last year, but it was impossible to break down exactly how much went to pay for TV violence.

Next on the list was Beecham products, manufacturers of MacCleans toothpaste, Breyer and Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil. Beecham spent $8,669,700 on TV commercials last year. Our survey showed that the American Tobacco Company, which lavished $45,869,000 on TV advertising in 1967, also spent a large portion on violence shows. American Tobacco produces Lucky Strike, Pall Mall, Tareyton, Carlton and Montclair cigarettes.

Other companies which helped support violent programs were Warner-Lambert, producer of Dubarry cosmetics and Listerine, which shelled out $42,515,900 for TV commercials last year; Mars, Inc., makers of Three Musketeers, Mars bars, Milky Way, Snickers, M and M, Forever Yours and Starburst candies, which spent $11,658,500; and Shell Oil, which had a $19,349,500 TV budget.

Even the Bell Telephone Company, which has won acclaim for its high-quality Bell Telephone Hour, has also sponsored some programs of TV violence.

It is up to the public now to demonstrate that TV violence doesn't pay.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

X Rays of Little Use
Diagnosing Liver Cancer

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — What would cause a person's liver to become enlarged? Blood tests show some evidence of liver damage. Do these conditions correct themselves in time?

A — Common causes of liver enlargement are valvular heart disease with decompensation, early cirrhosis of the liver (in the late stages the liver shrinks), Banti's disease (splenic anemia), bronze diabetes, chronic hepatitis, tumors of the liver and fatty changes in the liver. If your liver function tests show liver damage, it is important to discover which disease is causing the trouble, then treat the cause.

Q — Is X-ray the only way of discovering cancer of the liver? How fast does it spread? Can the liver be replaced? Can cancer of the liver be cured?

A — X-ray is of little use in the diagnosis of cancer of the liver because soft tissues do not stop the X-rays. The diagnosis is made by removing a small core of liver tissue and examining it under a microscope.

Scanning the liver with a Geiger counter after a dose of a radio-active isotope has been given is another valuable diagnostic method.

Although liver transplants have been done with some degree of success, the operation is still considered experimental. There is no cure for cancer of the liver but some new treatments have added to the victim's comfort and prolonged his life. The rate of growth of these cancers is unpredictable.

Q — Is there any relief for jaundice? Will I have to stay on a special diet?

A — Calamine lotion with phenol may be used to relieve the itching, which is usually the most troublesome symptom. Two new drugs, cholestyramine (Cuemid) and methandrostenolone (Dianabol) taken by mouth, will also relieve the itching but only if it is caused by the jaundice. There are many causes of jaundice and it is important to discover the cause and eliminate it. Diet may be a part of the treatment in some cases.

Q — What foods are rich in iron?

A — In the order of greatest concentration of iron they are: liver, oysters, red meat, spinach and other greens, enriched bread and eggs.

Contests for the Presidency

Nominating System Fair

By BRUCE BIONDANI, NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)

Nothing is quite so far off the mark as the complaints from such sources as the St. Louis Post Dispatch and James Reston of the New York Times that the democratic process is failing because it seems on the way to nominating Richard Nixon and Vice President Humphrey for the presidency.

At the heart of these and other criticisms is the argument that these two quite familiar faces are about to be nominated because of the dark plotting of "machine politicians" whose whole purpose is to thwart the will of the American people.

The truth is that the system serves quite well any interested Americans who are willing to use it.

Just days before the 1960 Democratic convention in Los Angeles, former President Harry Truman announced he would not attend because it was "rigged" in the late John F. Kennedy's favor. Truman's choice was Sen. Symington of Missouri.

In fact, Kennedy was far in the lead and was victorious over Symington, Lyndon B. Johnson and Adlai Stevenson (not to mention Humphrey much earlier), because he had done well all the things the "system" requires.

He won seven straight primaries and piled up mountains of other votes by winning state conventions in many places. He traveled the country endlessly, demonstrating convincingly his broad popularity within the Democratic party. Others, especially Humphrey, Johnson and Symington, tried some or all of these standard techniques and failed.

At the last, in the convention hall admittedly packed by use of fake tickets, the Stevensons tried by sheer vocal clamor to overturn in a few hours a result that had been many months in the making by the normal democratic process. They dared to shout "foul" when the delegates ignored this magic evidence that the "people" wanted Stevenson.

In 1964 there was much groaning and moaning in some quarters when the Republican convention at San Francisco nominated Barry Goldwater by a margin of nearly 4 to 1 over his nearest rival, William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

But, once again, the Goldwater forces triumphed because they had done the things the democratic system calls for and the others had not. True, his victories in primaries were few and generally meager, but he won the big one in California and captured a long string of state conventions.

Meantime, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York was mostly failing at the same process, and the timid GOP moderates who wanted somebody else to challenge Goldwater could not agree on another choice until, with just six weeks to go, Scranton leaped into battle—only to mount one of the most inept campaigns ever seen in modern party history.

This complaint that the process is not working when it seems to be producing a one-sided contest or what some critics think is an "unpopular" choice really should be directed against faint-hearted, unenergetic Americans—not against the system.

The year 1952 is a perfect illustration of how a tough, exciting, two-sided contest for the presidency can be brought right to the door of the convention hall if interested Americans really work at it and have genuinely viable candidates to support.

From late 1950 on, partisans of both Dwight D. Eisenhower and the late Robert A. Taft plunged in with full resources to get the nomination in 1952 for their man. Both sides worked like tigers, both won some primaries and many state conventions, both canvassed the country thoroughly.

They used the democratic process as it was meant to be used. When they got to Chicago, they were nearly even in votes and they gave the nation one of the most meaningful and thrilling exhibitions of real political rivalry in history.

In general we favor giving your partner a major suit raise any time your hand calls for it. There is one exception to this. When a game forcing bid has been made and we intend to raise our partner later we will sometimes bid no-trump as a warning against getting to an optimistic slam later on.

North had no reason to be ashamed of his opening bid. He had 14 high card points and three honor tricks in the old Culbertson honor trick count. On the other hand his strength was almost all in the red suits and he had bid clubs and his partner forced to game in spades.

North decided to bid two no-trump to show a minimum hand. South's three club call was quite proper and at this point North showed spade support by going to three spades.

Had South been really alert he might have reviewed the bidding pessimistically and said to himself: "North has some spade support and he opened the bidding. If he has two aces and both black queens we will have a cinch slam but if he has all this he would not have rebid two no-trump and then given a spade preference."

After that pessimistic review South would have settled for four spades.

Unfortunately, South was an optimist. His partner had opened the bidding. South was going to go for a slam. He Blackwooded and when North's response showed only one ace South had to settle for a five contract.

West was one of those players who wanted everything he could collect. He had listened to the bidding and was sure that he could give his partner a club ruff. West decided to double five spades.

South should have seen what was going to happen to him but sledgehammer bidders never do. South redoubled, to double his loss.

BARBS

By PHIL PASTORET

The only trouble with the new "sandwich" quarters is that there's mighty few places you can buy one with that particular coin.

The wise man learns from a mistake, the honest man owns up to one, and the foolish man tries to blame a mistake on one of the others.

BETTY CANARY

So Be Corny
Fly the Flag

This Fourth of July we will hang out our flag once again. And, as always, we will move into the dining room our framed "antique" copies of the Bill of Rights and the Constitution. A cardboard Liberty Bell, rather the worse for wear, will be our centerpiece.

Some will think we are simply too square about it all, and what can we say except we're sorry—for them.

Because Independence Day this year is almost one month after Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was assassinated, I expect some will call our running up flags a hollow gesture—perhaps a futile one. They might think the same as a man who said to me a day after that most awful day, "I don't believe any more. I've lost hope for this country and for humanity."

All that can be said to such cynics and pessimists is that they have as much right to their hopelessness as we do to our faith in the future.

Something that puzzles me is how we have got the definitions of words twisted around. Patriotism, for example, has come to be defined as being blind to the ills of this country and the world. To call someone a patriot today seems to refer to him as some kind of weirdo who meets in a basement with other weirdos in order to rant against new thoughts and liberal thinkers.

My dictionary says a patriot is "one who loves his country" and "a defender of popular liberty." Popular, in this sense, meaning "pertaining to the people at large." Perhaps some day Kennedy will be used as a synonym for patriot.

In my opinion, what we need, and especially what our children need, is not more snide remarks about flag-waving, not more predictions of gloom and despair, but more of Senator Kennedy's kind of patriotism. "Let us begin again" is a quotation we've heard many times this past month. One I've been thinking of is, "The branch cannot bear fruit by itself."

What They Say

OHIO COUNTY NEWS (Hartford, Ky.): Whom Are They Fooling. — How is it that rebellious young offenders manage to create so much trouble in a world supposedly in the hands of adults?

The answer, of course, is that Junior and his sister learn from adults — not juveniles next door. They tend to perform according to the guidance of their elders, their parents. If the guidance is faulty, or lacking, then the performance is pretty certain to be faulty. The law notes that parents are responsible for their offspring. But if parents don't know the whereabouts of the kids, who should?

In passing, we might note that teenagers do not sell the mini-skirts to the teenyboppers, adults do. Teenagers don't sell pants two sizes too small to overdeveloped and underaged Delilahs, adults do. Teenagers don't turn juvenile delinquents loose with a wrist-slap to laugh in the face of the law enforcement officers, adults do. Teenagers don't operate theaters which allow youngsters to watch movies based on sex, adults do.

Advertisements are usually of a scantily clad woman in some pose denoting drama of high emotional pitch, either seduction or dire peril.

It would be useless to debate here whether or not these movies are pornographic. The debate has gone to the highest court in the land, and the issue is still as unclear as when the first "underground" movie was made.

If you think the words on those posters, or in the advertisements "FOR MATURE ADULTS ONLY" make a big difference, take a few minutes some evening to watch a box office and see how many of the peach fuzz set with the price of admission are turned away.

If you think Junior's allowance isn't welcome in payment for some of the most disgusting picture magazines in circulation, take a few minutes to watch the magazine rack in some stores.

And then take half-an-hour sometime to listen attentively to the lyrics of some of the records teenagers are being offered.

Then act like an adult.

Democrat Pickups

A Sedalia woman had been visiting her daughter in St. Louis and the two of them were driving back to Sedalia one night recently when suddenly there was a terrific noise as if a gun had gone off in the car. It was very dark and it sounded like it was in the back seat. It gave them a frightening feeling, and they wondered what it might be, discussing it as they rode along. In this day and age when all kinds of things are happening to people, they thought it might have been a sniper. Then there seemed to be a peculiar odor in the car.

Imagination is a great thing. "It seems I smell gunpowder," said the mother. The daughter was sure she did, too.

The odor got worse, their jitters got worse, and finally the daughter decided that at the next exit place she was going to drive off the highway and up to a filling station to see what was wrong with the car before it blew up. Just as she drove up the ramp the mother made a discovery, probably when she moved around a little and found that the seat of the car was wet.

Between them was a place for two glasses. They had started out with two bottles of some kind of soft drinks. The mother drank all of hers but the daughter, since she was driving, drank only a little of hers and then put on the plastic top with a ring on it to keep it until later. It was this plastic top that had zoomed off like a gunshot, caused perhaps, from the shaking of the bottle as the car moved along and the gas finally popped it off. Since it was dark they hadn't noticed the bottle but the contents had spewed all over the seat and all over the mother. She didn't mind at all because they were so relieved to find that the noise was made by a bottle of pop and not a gun. Funny thing, too, they didn't smell gunpowder any more. H.L.

Higher Jobless Rate Seen by Economists

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Speaking economically, this month may be remembered as much more than the midway point in a booming but troubled year. A year or so from now we might also recall it as the beginning of a new economic phase.

As this economy enters the second half, or the new phase, consumers are spending heavily and debt is rising. Joblessness is only 3.5 per cent of the labor force, but credit is costly, prices and wages are rising, and taxes are rising too.

Although the defects and needs of the urban economies are being exposed as never before, the problems and imbalances of the rural and farm economies are great also: farm expenses are high or rising, while prices received are slipping.

In general, the economic boom, now more than seven years old, is so badly out of balance that prices are rising at the rate of four per cent a year. And many of these rising household costs are where they can't be avoided: in rents, medical and dental care, food, clothing.

Already the economic indicators, those statistical arrows that point to future events, have begun to tilt downward, anticipating a slowdown because of a promised $6 billion cutback in government spending and a 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate incomes, scheduled to begin this month.

Gradually, as money is taken out of the economy the rate of unemployment should begin to rise, perhaps reaching more than 4 per cent of the labor force in the next six months or so. This is one of the painful ironies of any slowdown.

Wage increases likely will continue at a rate of 6 per cent or so for a matter of months but will become increasingly difficult to obtain. Consumer spending may drop even though, hopefully, price increases will moderate and credit costs drop.

By early next year it may well be a brand-new economy—perhaps even threatened with recession—one that will permit the new president to issue with some degree of credibility that old battlecry: Let us begin.

There is a good chance the new president will find his constituents clamoring for more expansiveness in the economy, for more jobs, for lower taxes and perhaps even for a bit more government spending.

Although this may be a new phase of the economic boom, or even the end of it, the excesses and defects of the past seven years aren't likely to be forgotten. Fundamental changes are being considered.

As the great speculative binge in the stock market shows signs of ending, the stock market itself appears to be facing a long period of examination and criticism of its methods, in part the result of excesses.

Whatever the net results of economic policy over the next six months, or the examination of it over the past seven years, the signs are becoming clearer that a phase is ending.

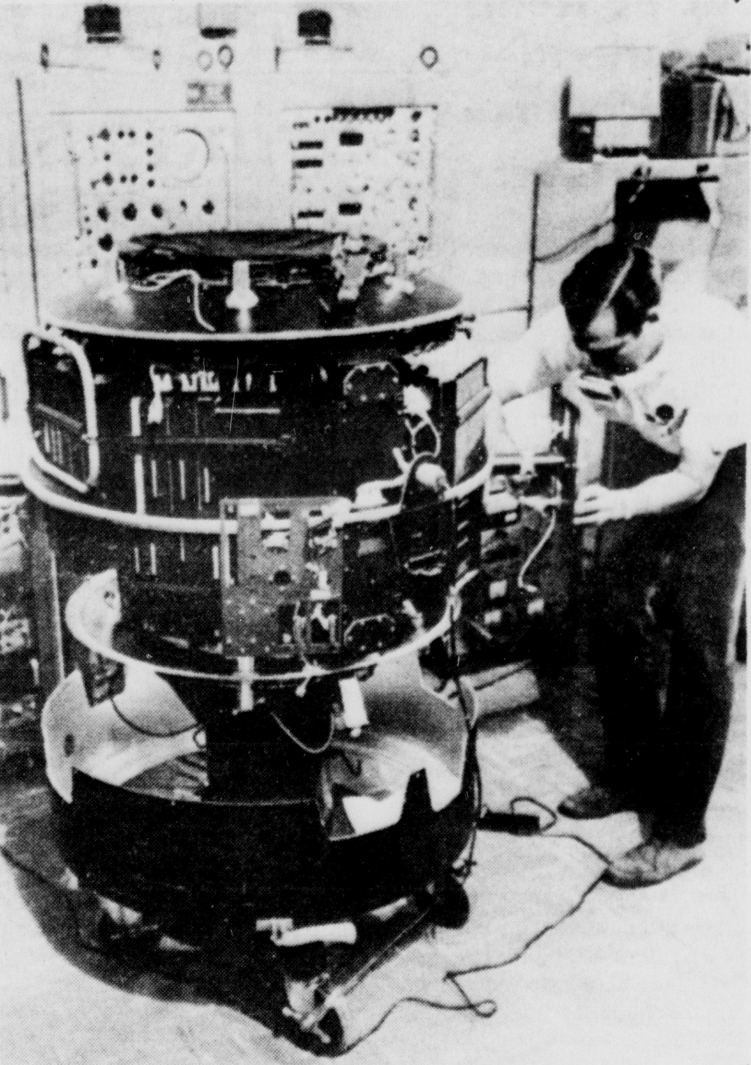

PRESIDENT of the Board of Curators of the University of Missouri is William C. Myers, Jr., a Webb City attorney. Myers was elected to succeed Oliver B. Ferguson, Fredericktown newspaper publisher.

Major Farm Talk Set by McCarthy

CORNING, Iowa (AP)—A major farm address by Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is scheduled Thursday at the Rural America Declaration of Independence Day observance.

The event is sponsored by the Corning Chamber of Commerce and the National Farmers Organization.

Other speakers will include Oren Lee Staley, Rea, Mo., president of the NOF.

NFO spokesmen said other presidential candidates or their representatives have also been invited and farm leaders from some 41 states are expected along with an overall crowd of more than 10,000.

John Brown assumed the name of Isaac Smith when he arrived in Harper's Ferry.

Wedding Set for Hospital

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—After postponing her wedding twice because of traffic injuries that hospitalized her, Cheryl Lynette Burris will be married to Kenneth Armstrong tonight—in Tulsa's St. John's Hospital.

Miss Burris, 21, and Armstrong, 22, planned their wedding for June 21, but four days before that she suffered a whip-lash injury in a traffic accident. The wedding was postponed to June 25.

But on that day, Miss Burris suffered a more serious injury in another traffic accident in front of her home. She was hospitalized with a fractured neck.

Her fiancé, on a 15-day leave from Ft. Bragg, N.C., obtained a week's extension from his commanding officer so they could be married in the hospital.

Lawman, Cyclist Collide in Field

FARLEY, Mo. (AP)—A race at speeds up to 100 miles an hour between a motorcycle and a Missouri Highway Patrol car ended with a collision in a Platte County cornfield Sunday.

The patrol said the motorcyclist, identified as Harland L. Welch Jr., 28, of Muncie, Kan., was pursued by trooper J. R. Philpott on Missouri highway 45.

When Welch turned on to a gravel road then into the cornfield, Philpott followed, and they collided. The trooper was unhurt, but Welch was taken to Providence Hospital in Kansas City, Kan., with head cuts and back pains.

The Story of the KENNEDYS

NEW BOOK TO TELL STORY OF THE AMAZING KENNEDYS

The Kennedys have had it all. From hunger in Ireland to realization, three generations later, of the American Dream. Wealth, Position, Power. And they have seen the dream become nightmare. The violence done them by fate is cruel enough. But the violence done them by the dark side of the human mind has appalled the nation and the world.

The story of this American family, what has been given it and what has been taken from it, is as fantastic as it is frightening.

Once before the Associated Press has chronicled a shocking tragedy of this afflicted family in "The Torch Is Passed," one of the largest-selling books of all time, and the classic account of the assassination of President Kennedy.

Now, in a time of national shock and sympathy, the AP is producing another book on this fated family.

It is called "Triumph and Tragedy: The Story of the Kennedys." Many of those who wrote "The Torch Is Passed" are at work on the new project. It will be a hard-bound book fully illustrated in color and black and white.

a fitting memoir of one of the most shocking personal and public tragedies of American history.

Kaline Raps Out a Single To Brink In Tie-Breaker

By HERSCHEL NISSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who's on first? Would you believe Al Kaline?

Believe it or not, there was the Detroit slugger, back from five weeks on the disabled list with a broken right arm, trotting out to first base Monday night and looking for all the world like a latter-day Mickey Mantle.

And there was Kaline, backbone of the Tigers' attack for 16 years, ripping a single to left in the sixth inning to score Mickey Stanley with the tie-breaking run in a 5-1 victory over the California Angels.

The Angels didn't wait long to test the outfielder-turned-first baseman, Vic Davalillo, the leadoff batter, grounded to Kaline, who fielded the ball and flipped to pitcher Mickey Lolich covering the bag.

Kaline later caught a foul pop and handled three throws from infielders but was charged with an error when he took his foot off the bag on a throw from third baseman Dick Tracewski.

Elsewhere in the American League, Cleveland tripped Minnesota 4-1, the Chicago White Sox downed Baltimore 6-3, Boston beat Oakland 3-0 and Washington turned back the New York Yankees 3-1.

In the National League, St. Louis defeated Los Angeles 5-1, Atlanta drubbed San Francisco 3-2 in 11 innings and Philadelphia outlasted the Chicago Cubs 6-4. The New York Mets and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

The 33-year-old Kaline played third base for part of one game in 1961 and spent the rest of his career in the outfield. He suffered a broken arm when struck by a pitch in a game at Oakland May 25 and was reactivated Monday afternoon.

Manager Mayo Smith told him an hour before game time that he'd be playing first, a move Smith had been considering for some time.

Kaline was not the only standout as the high-flying Tigers kept their American League lead at 7½ games over Cleveland. Catcher Bill Freehan cracked his 10th and 11th homers, Tracewski hit his second and Lolich, the erratic lefty, hurled a five-hitter and fanned 14, most by a Detroit pitcher this season.

Lou Johnson, the happy-go-lucky outfielder acquired last week from the Chicago Cub, blasted two homers and Sam McDowell fanned 11 Twins as Cleveland beat Minnesota.

McDowell yielded a leadoff double to Cesar Tovar, then pitched hitless ball until the eighth, when he needed help from Stan Williams after Tony Oliva's run-scoring single.

Buddy Bradford, a White Sox outfielder, had a two-homer night against Baltimore. He cracked his third of the season to ignite a four-run first inning after Luis Aparicio reached on an error, and hit another in the fifth.

Aparicio also homered, his third, while Brooks Robinson and Curt Blefary connected for the Orioles. The White Sox capped the opening inning with a double steal on which Ken Berry swiped home while Bill Voss stole second.

Veteran southpaws Dick Ellsworth and Juan Pizarro, a couple of National League castoffs, combined for a four-hitter as Boston blanked Oakland. Ellsworth worked six innings, allowing all four hits, walking five, throwing three wild pitches and hitting a batter.

The Yankees not only lost a game to Washington but two pitchers and their manager, as well. Starter Al Downing left after one inning with a pain in his elbow and reliever Bill Monbouquette, the eventual loser, pulled a groin muscle in the fifth.

Monbouquette was the cause of Manager Ralph Houk's ejection when he laid down a squeeze bunt that apparently gave the Yanks a 2-1 lead. But umpire Jerry Neudecker ruled that Monbouquette ran out of the baseline, called him out for interference and sent the runner back to third, where he was stranded.

Sacred Heart Cheerleaders Win Honors

The Sacred Heart School cheerleaders won the small group high school division at the 11th Annual Arkansas State University Cheerleading Clinic held at Jonesboro, Ark., from June 23rd through June 28th.

The cheerleading squad composed of Jackie Myers, head cheerleader, Carolyn Stretz, Cass Kneist, Marilyn Gibson, Teresa Hogan and Mary Beth Bazin, were in competition with squads from 22 other schools. The small group division is for teams with six members or less.

Cheerleaders from Warsaw High School took honorable mention in the same category. Two other cheering squads from Missouri schools also took honors, both in the junior-high division. Caruthersville finished third and Salem won honorable mention.

The clinic was held in three one-week sessions with the local cheerleaders attending the last. More than 1,400 students from approximately 12 schools attended.

Gibson-Drysdale Matchup Brings In a Packed Crowd

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Gibson, it may be related today, won a pitching battle but lost a war.

The big St. Louis Cardinal right-hander, who had pitched five consecutive shutouts, went to the mound Monday night seeking to equal the major league record of six held by his opponent in Dodger Stadium, Don Drysdale of Los Angeles.

The dramatic bid ended with two out in the first inning on, of all ironies, a wild pitch by Gibson that let in a run.

Gibson went on to score a 5-1 triumph, his seventh straight, while Drysdale retired from the game as the loser in the seventh inning.

The Gibson-Drysdale matchup drew a packed crowd of 54,157 into the stadium, 42,603 of whom paid for the honor. The remainder on hand were A-student high schoolers and Girl Scouts—guests of the Dodgers.

Gibby's downfall came after Len Gabrielson and Tom Haller hit successive singles, Gabrielson reaching third.

With Ron Fairly at bat and the count 1-1, Gibson uncorked a fast ball that catcher Johnny Edwards simply couldn't handle. Gabrielson ran in and scored—stomping both feet on home plate to emphasize the run.

Fairly then grounded out. The run was earned but, as may be suggested, it was a typical dodger run.

From there on only three runners reached third base against Gibson, the last one in the ninth in a mild rally which Gibby stifled.

Gloom or doom for the friendly Gibson? Not at all.

He boomed into the dressing room and promptly shouted for Edwards' benefit, "It was the catcher's fault. He messed it up."

Was the errant pitch a fast ball? "It was a wild fast ball," said Gibson, adding that "it was all my fault."

In more serious vein, he said, "I won the game. I'm not disappointed at all."

Gibson gave up nine hits, well scattered. He was the master.

"It's too bad the way it happened, he's a great pitcher," said Drysdale, no bad sport himself. "As for me, I just didn't have it."

Local Swimmers Set Tank Records

A number of Jefferson City pool records were set by Sedalia Surf Club swimmers in a mid-Missouri swim meet held Sunday at Jefferson City Memorial Park Pool.

Sedalia swimmers setting the new marks were Jo Ann Maxwell in the women's open division setting the 100 meter freestyle standard at 1:12.8 and the 100 meter backstroke in 1:27.2. Kent Cordry in the Men's open setting records in the 100 meter backstroke at 1:20.1, in the 100 meter fly at 1:22.4 and 100 meter free in 1:09.9; and Sherry Sanders setting a new mark in the women's open 100 meter backstroke in 1:39.0.

One new 200 meter medley relay record was notched by the team of Eddie Gonser, Bill Raumaker, Greg Shoemaker and Kent Cordry.

Other Surf Club swimmers grabbing first place honors were Pat Curry in the 14 yr. old 100 meter freestyle; Diane Cordry, triple winner in the breaststroke, fly, and backstroke;

Susan Stoll in the younger girls' breaststroke.

Despite the record setting efforts the Surf Club squad was shaded by a strong Columbia team with 486 points to the Surf Club's 258. The host, Jefferson City was close with 232 followed by Marshall's 80.

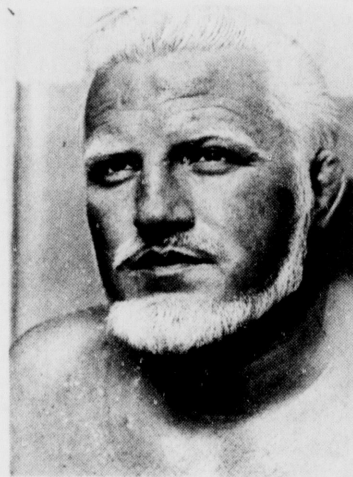

Other place winners in the 8 year and under division were: Brian Beaudette, Jack Beaudette and David Braverman; 9-10 year division: Skipper McGuire and Gary Schroeder; 11-12 year division: Jim Sanders, David Stoll, Gary Maxwell, Joe Gerlec; 13-14 year age group: Kim Anderson, Pat Curry, Keith Hawkins and Mike Curry; Men's open: Bill Raumaker, Eddie Gonser and Greg Shoemaker.

The girl's 9-10 division: Kathy Anderson and Susan Stoll; 11-12 division Tracey Curry, Debbie Thompson and Lisa Gann; 13-14 age group: Kristy Sanders, Peggy Zink and Kathy Dawson.

The Surf Club will host the next mid-Missouri meet July 13th at the Walnut Hills Surf Club.

Will Oppose Kirby

Cowboy Bob Ellis Returns To City

The Viking

Cowboy Bob Ellis, a strapping, 242-pound Texan ranked in the top 10 of the nation's wrestling stars, returns to Sedalia tonight to help headline a four-event Convention Hall ring program.

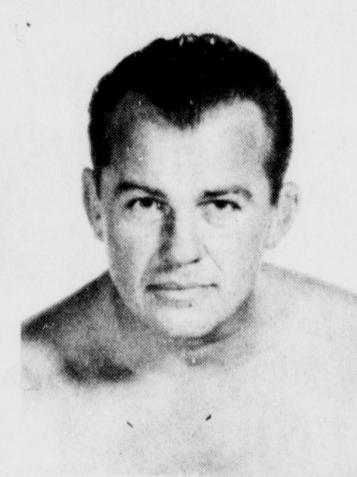

Ellis, who parlayed his speed and proficiency with the rodeo headlock into a winning combination, will go opposite hard-hitting Natureboy Kirby in one-half the double main event.

For Ellis, it will mark his first appearance here in a number of years. The big, good-looking heavyweight from San Angelo was a crowd favorite when he appeared here in other seasons. He used experience gained in the Midlands as a stepping stone to national stardom.

Fast and agile, Ellis hopes to tame the unruly Kirby, a 235-pounder from Indianapolis, in short order. Kirby has had solid success against some of the area's finest wrestlers.

Sharing main-event status will be a return battle between Ronnie Etchison and the Viking. The two are matched under lumberjack rules, provisions that promise a bruising scrap from start to finish.

A half dozen other heavyweights will be stationed outside the ropes to make sure the two stay at their task.

Ronnie Etchison

Should either attempt to step the ropes or leave the ring for a breather, they'll be thrown right back in.

Bob Brown and 275-pound Stan Moose will collide in the special event. The 8:30 opener matches ex-world champion Pat O'Connor and Handsome Herbert.

Argues With Umpire

New York Manager Ralph Houk argues with umpire Bill Haller in the fifth inning against Washington Monday over an interference call against pitcher Bill Monbouquette. After Bobby Cox singled and Bill Robinson tripled him, Monbouquette laid down a safe bunt apparently scoring Robinson. But Haller ruled that Monbouquette had run in the way of Nat's pitcher Camilo Pascual's throw to first and called the Yank pitcher out. After the dispute Houk was ejected. The Senators won 3-1. (UPI).

Ways to Keep Dust Off Wet Paintings

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Do tell Judy the best way to keep dust off her newly done paintings is to follow the advice of the Old Masters. As she might remember from movies, the great artist always removes a piece of cloth from a canvas when he displays his masterpiece, and that is the secret. Use about a yard-wide piece of old, but clean, lightweight white cloth and drape gently over the wet canvas. If the painter is careful, the material will not damage the painting and it will be so light air can easily circulate to dry the paint.—HENRY

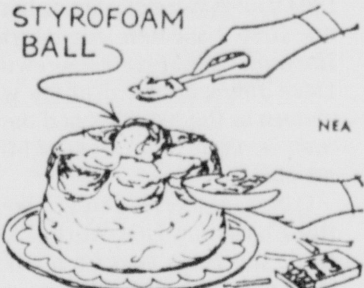

DEAR POLLY—In answer to Judy's question about dust collecting on her paintings while they are drying, I suggest that she lean them face toward the wall, at an angle, and put a cardboard across each end so the dust does not come in from the sides.—HARVEY

DEAR POLLY—If Judy paints with paint-by-number sets, the box cover fits perfectly over the picture, yet is away from it. Place other paintings on a dresser and lean against a mirror or the wall.—DOROTHY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Can someone tell me how to put elastic in a nylon hair net I put on to save my hairdo while sleeping? I have at least a dozen perfectly good ones that were expensive but they don't seem to come with elastic. I have tried replacing the rubber but did not make out so good. Do hope someone can tell me how to go about it.—MRS. A. S.

DEAR POLLY—When I baked a birthday cake in a large 10-inch tube pan, I wondered what to do with the center hole. To solve this and to avoid holes in the cake from birthday candles or holders, I now take a piece of Styrofoam (cut any desired shape), place it over the hole, ice lightly and place the required number of candles in the foam. I recently used an egg-shaped ball and put 21 candles all around the ball, inserting the smallest part of the "egg" into the hole of the cake. It looked different and received many compliments.—ANNE

Cardinal Ace Wins Game, Fails To Break a Record

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

After Don Drysdale pitched a major league record six straight shutouts and 58 2-3 consecutive scoreless innings, everyone wondered what he could do for an encore.

He could have gotten the hit that halted Bob Gibson's march toward his records, but he didn't. He could have beaten Gibson when the two clashed Monday night, but he didn't.

Gibson, on the other hand, didn't reach the records, allowing a first-inning run on a wild pitch in St. Louis' 5-1 victory over Los Angeles.

"I won the game; I'm not disappointed at all," said Gibson, the Cardinal ace who had hurled five straight shutouts and amassed 47 innings of scoreless pitching.

It didn't take long for Gibson to end the suspense for 54,157 fans at Dodger Stadium, including 10,000 straight A high school students and 3,000 Girl Scouts.

After retiring the first two Dodgers in the first inning, he gave up singles to Len Gabrielson and Tom Haller and then with Ron Fairly at bat, he bounced a pitch past catcher John Edwards for his third wild pitch of the season. Gabrielson scored easily.

"It was all my fault," Gibson said. "It was a wild fast ball." "It's too bad the way it happened; he's a great pitcher," commented Drysdale, who was knocked out of the game in the seventh inning.

Gibson, however, was around at the finish and picked up his seventh straight victory for a 10-5 record. Drysdale also is 10-5. Gibson lowered his earned run average slightly to 1.13 while Drysdale's ERA rose to 1.46.

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta defeated San Francisco 5-1, Philadelphia topped Chicago 6-4 and Cincinnati edged Houston 3-2 in 11 innings.

In the American, Detroit knocked off California 5-1, Cleveland beat Minnesota 4-1, Chicago stopped Baltimore 6-3, Boston blanked Oakland 3-0 and Washington trimmed New York 3-1.

The Cardinals promptly tied the Dodgers on Julian Javier's second-inning sacrifice fly, then went ahead in the sixth on another sacrifice fly, this one by Orlando Cepeda. Gibson drove in a run with an infield out in the three-run seventh.

Clete Boyer led Atlanta past San Francisco. He doubled and scored in the third inning, then singled across a run in the sixth. Relief pitcher Cecil Upshaw rescued starter Phil Niekro in the eighth inning and preserved the Brave victory.

Reliever John Boomer got the Phillies out of trouble in the ninth and saved the victory for Chris Short, who at one stretch retired 15 straight Cubs. Boomer retired Glenn Beckert on a bases-loaded game-ending grounder after Willie Smith singled home two runs against Gary Wagner.

Tommy Helms sent Tony Perez home with the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the 11th inning for Cincinnati's victory over Houston. Perez walked, stole second and continued to third on John Bateman's wild throw. The Astros' Dave Giusti blanked the Reds on three hits until the ninth when they rallied for two runs and a tie.

Mantle Will Take Usual Place With AL All-Stars

BOSTON (AP) — Aging Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees will take his usual place with the American League All-Stars. But such super stars as Al Kaline and Frank Robinson will be missing in the annual classic with the National League July 9 in Houston.

Mantle, whose 529 homers rank him fourth in the all-time home run derby, was named to the All-Star team for the 16th year Monday as Manager Dick Williams completed his 25-player squad.

Williams, rewarded with the AL managerial berth for leading the Boston Red Sox to the 1967 pennant, went pretty much along with the players' voting in filling his bench.

The fourth, fifth and sixth biggest vote-getters in the outfield balloting were chosen. They were Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins, hot-hitting Ken Harrelson of the Red Sox and young Rick Monday of the Oakland Athletics.

Kalane, the Detroit Tigers' slugger sidelined with a broken arm, was not named to the All-Star team for the first time since 1954. Robinson, Baltimore's 1966 Triple Crown winner, has been plagued by injuries this season.

Mantle and Boog Powell of the Orioles were chosen as backup first basemen for starter Harmon Killebrew of the Twins. Dave Johnson of Baltimore was chosen as the No. 2 second baseman behind Rod Carew of Minnesota.

Other reserves chosen were third baseman Don Wert of Detroit, shortstop Bert Campaneris of Oakland and catcher Joe Azcue of Cleveland and Duane Josephson of the Chicago White Sox.

The league-leading Tigers will be represented by four players. Wert, catcher Bill Freehan, pitcher Denny McLain and outfielder Willie Horton.

The Twins, Red Sox, Orioles and Athletics each will have three representatives. The Yankees and White Sox have two apiece, with California and Washington only one each.

Other starters voted were third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, shortstop Jim Fregosi of the Angels, and outfielders Carl Yastrzemski of the Red Sox and Frank Howard of Washington.

The seven-man pitching staff includes McLain, Sam McDowell and Luis Tiant of Cleveland, Jose Santiago of Boston, Mel Stottlemyre of New York, Tommy John of Chicago and John "Blue Moon" Odom of Oakland.

Sedalian Cards His Second Hole-In-One

Most golfers hope for a hole-in-one sometime during their playing career. Bernard Stanfield, 1634 Honeysuckle, has made two.

Stanfield's latest ace came on a 138-yard, par 3 fourth hole at the Senec Country Club, Louisville, Ky. He was playing in a foursome with Charles Wendt, Sedalia, John Fuller, St. Louis, and Russell Coats, Columbia.

His first hole-in-one was made on "Big Dinky" at the Sedalia Country Club in 1961.

Stanfield was attending the national convention of the Travelers' Protective Association in Louisville.

Big Eight Area Men On Roster

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Led by world record holders Jim Ryun and Charlie Greene, 15 men who competed in the Midlands-Big Eight area are on the roster for the U.S. Olympic altitude training camp at South Lake Tahoe, Calif.

Five were added to the list Monday night by the Olympic coaches, giving them a chance to make the U.S. team at the Final Olympic Trials Sept. 9-17. The Tahoe site is close to the same altitude as the Olympics in Mexico City and the same time schedule will be used in the Final Trials.

The five additions are Glenn Ogden of Missouri, 5,000 meters; Tom Von Ruden, ex-Oklahoma State, 1,500 meters; Chris McCubbins, ex-OSU, 3,000-meter steeplechase; Karl Salb, Kansas freshman, shot put; and Kansas signee Bob Bornkessel, Shawnee-Mission North high school in Kansas, 400-meter hurdles. None of the five placed in the top six in the Olympic Trials at Los Angeles Saturday and Sunday.

Ryun of Kansas and ex-Kansas athlete Billy Mills, the Olympic 1964 10,000-meter champion, both were granted permission to skip the Los Angeles due to illness and injury. Ryun holds world marks in the mile, 880 and 1,500 meters.

Greene, ex-Nebraska great who shares world marks at 100 yards and 100 meters, is one of seven who placed at Los Angeles. The others are Al Oerter, ex-Kansas, discus; James Hardwick, Oklahoma, 400-meter hurdles; John Mason, Fort Hays, Kan. State, 1,500 meters; John Perry, ex-OSU, 800 meters; Conrad Nightingale, ex-Kansas State, steeplechase; and Stan Whitley, Kansas, long jump. The 15th man is Larry Young, Sibley, Mo., second in the trials for the 20-kilometer walk at Long Beach, Calif., Saturday night.

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Veteran driver Paul Vineyard has driven horses to victory at Roosevelt Raceway that returned the highest and lowest payoffs in the history of the track.

Highest payoff was $239.60 for $2 when Gift Hanover won on July 2, 1941. Lowest payoff came on Sept. 5, 1944 when Singapore returned only $2.10 for $2.

VFW Takes League Lead

In a battle for the league lead, Larry Brownfield turned in a masterful no run no hit game in leading VFW to a 2 to 0 victory over Broadway Realty. The only runner to reach base against Brownfield was Eddie Ream when he was hit by a pitch to lead off the sixth inning.

VFW scored both their runs in the fourth as Gary Eck lead off with a base hit. He stole second and scored on a base hit by Larry Brownfield. Brownfield stole second and third and scored when a pick-off attempt at third was thrown away. In permitting no runs and no hits Brownfield struck out 8 and walked none. Dave Nash turned in another strong game but absorbed the loss as he gave up two runs on three hits. He struck out seven and walked two. Batteries for VFW — Larry Brownfield and Larry Neville. For Broadway Realty — Dave Nash and Eddie Ream.

Score by innings:

Bdwy. R'ty ..... 000 000 0—0-1
VFW ..... 000 200 x—2-3-0

In the other game of the evening Pepsi Cola used a 12 hit attack to down S&M 13 to 14. Pete Green, Tim Riney and Chester Henderson each had two hits for Pepsi. Base hits for S&M were turned in by Dave Pirtle, Roy Clark and Gary Pirtle. Pat Robinson took the win for Pepsi. He gave up four runs on three hits. He struck out 11 and walked 5. George Williams and Mike Korenke shared the pitching chores for S&M. Williams took the loss. Batteries for Pepsi Cola — Pat Robinson and John Rissler. For S&M it was George Williams and Mike Kroenke on the mound and Willie Elkins and Gary Pirtle doing the catching.

Score by innings:

Pepsi Cola ..... 023 003 5—13-12-3
S&M ..... 100 012 0—4-3-5

Plans are being completed for the Mo. State Senior Babe Ruth tournament which will be held in Sedalia July 12, 13, and 14. The tournament will be a double elimination affair with the winner moving on to the sectional tournament in New Albany, Indiana. The all star team has been selected and will be managed by Carl Walker. Dale Brown will serve as coach.

Invited To Olympic Camp Despite a Negro Boycott

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A huge squad of 193 has been invited to the United States men's Olympic Track and Field high altitude training camp as the threat of a boycott by Negro athletes continues.

The Olympic Track and Field Committee announced its selections Monday, the same day that boycott architect Harry Edwards told newsmen in San Francisco that plans had been approved but refused to reveal what they were.

In announcing the squad, the committee named as many as 10 athletes to some events. Officially, the committee said this was to insure sufficient competition at South Lake Tahoe during the training.

Some, however, saw the big squad as a method of having enough white athletes in training in the event a boycott dramatizing racial unrest becomes a reality. For instance,

Action at Lake Tahoe, which is comparable to the 7,000-foot plus altitude of the Mexico City Olympics site, begins in July with final trials to select the U.S. team slated Sept. 9-17. Olympic conditions will be simulated during these trials.

Three Speed Records Set in Time Trials

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Three speed records have been set in qualifying for Thursday's Firecracker 400 at the Daytona International Speedway and the field still is not complete.

Charlie Glotzbach of Georgetown, Ind., won the pole position with a record 185.15 miles per hour clocking in a 1968 Dodge on Sunday.

Then Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., broke it with a qualifying run Monday at 187.750 m.p.h., only to be followed by Leroy Yarborough of Columbia, S.C., at 187.049 m.p.h. Both Yarborough and Yarborough drove 1968 Mercu-rys. Other Monday qualifiers included David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C., 184.789 m.p.h. in a 1968 Ford and A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., also in a 1968 Ford at 183.237 m.p.h.

Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N.C., qualified at 12.613 m.p.h. in a 1968 Dodge Charger, and Bobby Jones of Miami, Fla., got in with 170.640 m.p.h. in a 1966 Chevelle.

The race will have a starting field of 40 with $73,000-plus in prize money. The Firecracker 400 starts at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Whitworth Victory Boosts Her Lead

CINCINNATI (AP) — Kathy Whitworth's victory Sunday in the Lady Carling Open at Baltimore has boosted her lead in the Ladies Professional Golf Association 1968 tournament winnings to more than $20,000.

LPGA headquarters here reported today the $3,000 Miss Whitworth won at Baltimore gives her a total of $20,255 in official tour winnings. She has won three tournaments.

Carol Mann, who fell from the lead a week ago after she had to drop from two tournaments because of a back ailment, stayed in second place with $17,670 after finishing second to Miss Whitworth in the Baltimore tournament. Miss Mann has won four tournaments on the tour.

US Track, Field Team, On European Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — A United States track and field team leaves New York today for a European tour.

John Mason of Fort Hays, Kan., State College and Charlie Greene, formerly of Nebraska, are heading a group coached by Joe Healey of New York University. The team will tour the Scandinavian countries.

Mason runs the 1,500 meters and Greene recently smashed the world record by running the 100 meters in 9.9 seconds at the AAU championships.

Militant Group Leaves NAACP

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "Young Turk" militants whose aggressive demands nearly broke up the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's annual convention this past week are walking out of that moderate civil rights organization.

They hope to forge a new link between themselves, the Congress of Racial Equality, The Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

NAACP leaders are probably relieved to see them go.

The leaders weren't worried about the perennial militant threat to their control. Despite loud boasts, the Young Turks failed this year for the fourth straight time to get any of their resolutions close to a passing vote.

But NAACP leaders, who have a deep faith in orderly procedure, were agast at having to call Atlantic City police onto their convention floor to end a noisy, scuffling demonstration.

The first to leave was Dr. Eugene T. Reed, an NAACP board of directors member for the past five years, who revealed his resignation Monday with a blast at the "Nazi-like atmosphere of strongarm techniques..." at the convention.

Dr. Reed, an Amityville, N.Y., dentist and a two-time past president of the New York State conference of branches, has long argued that the NAACP's emphasis on bringing Negroes into the existing American social system is behind the times.

"You and the board of directors," he telegraphed Executive Director Roy Wilkins, "not only demonstrated this past week an unwillingness to change, but that you are willing to use any and all means to keep the association from being relevant to the many problems of black people."

Monday afternoon Chester Lewis, a well-to-do Wichita, Kan., attorney who succeeded Reed as leader of the militant faction, said he would resign as branch president and legal counsel, and renounce his life membership.

Lewis, 48, accused the NAACP leadership of using money, favors and threats to buy convention votes and said the 2-1 margin by which his proposals were beaten don't reflect the delegates' true sympathies.

"We've reached the conclusion that we can't meet the organized force they put against us," he said in a telephone interview.

An NAACP spokesman, in turn, accused Lewis of being unwilling to abide by the convention's decision. "At no time did they have the voting strength that could have passed anything," said Gloucester Current, NAACP director of branches.

The basic dispute is more complex than that, however. Lewis argues that a nonviolent, nonracist Black Power—clearly labeled as such and used to build economic and political power in the ghettos—is the country's only salvation.

He is angry at the large southern NAACP delegation that block voted against the Young Turk resolutions.

"The Southern black man is like the Southern white man, he's a goddamn conservative," Lewis said. "Plus the black South is going through the same hangup the black North went through 20 years ago, going into hotels, restaurants, airports. They actually think there's hope assimilation will occur. We've been through this, we know it won't... They still think that if they sing enough, and march enough, and pray enough, they will overcome."

That is not the kind of rhetoric the present NAACP leadership likes to deal in.

"We're going to hew to the line—fight segregation, get new job opportunities for our people, continue to work to improve the opportunities for ghetto dwellers," said Henry Lee Moon, the organization's public relations director.

"We're trying to make the Negro more a part, a sharer, in the good things of American life. We believe it can be done within the framework of our system... I would feel that we're still on course."

Faced with this situation, Lewis said he and 200 to 300 unhappy NAACP delegates decided at a postconvention conference to call a meeting in December to explore links with other groups.

BUSINESS NEWS

John L. Boul, Credit Manager of Sedalia Industrial Loan & Investment Co., has completed the second part of a three-year program on consumer finance offered by Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wis., this summer.

The institute brought leading educators and businessmen from throughout the country to Marquette to teach skills needed in the consumer finance field.

The program is co-sponsored by the American Industrial Bankers Association, the National Consumer Finance Association, twenty-one state consumer finance organizations, and Marquette.

The institute will also offer an advanced program Aug. 5-9 for personnel in the administration of multi-office consumer finance firms.

Case of Melting Pleas

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Pleas for moderation melted Sunday when 35 angry tenants in a 37-story high rise apartment building in downtown Baltimore declared a rent strike. The air-conditioning system, they said, fought a losing battle with the near record 99-degree heat.

The technical term applied to a government that is run by women is gynarchy.

Don't Make Waves!

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Water levels in some southeast Michigan lakes—swelled to the flood point by several days of severe thunderstorms—are so high that fast-moving boats are sending water across living room floors, says the Michigan Conservation Department.

James A. Hadley, head of the department's boat and water safety section, said the water may take three or four weeks to recede to normal levels. In the meantime, he said, it is illegal to operate a boat in such a manner as to damage property.

Age Helps Oust TV Soloists

By PATTI PAGE

EDITOR'S NOTE — A woman performer, particularly a singer, who admits to having passed her 30th birthday, is rarer than a passenger pigeon. Patti Page, one of the well-established musical stars, explains frankly that it's not vanity, but self-preservation.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — I'm grateful for this opportunity to thank those of you who saw me on the Ed Sullivan Show, Music Hall and other television series and wrote how pleased you were that I had come out of retirement.

Appreciative as I am, I must make a confession. I did not retire—unless you call seven months on the road in night clubs and recording two albums and eight singles annually retirement.

It was the other way around. TV retired from me—and from such talented female singers as Rosie Clooney, Kay Starr, Jo Stafford, Polly Bergen and, to a lesser extent, Dinah Shore and Peggy Lee. These singers not only dominated the record industry's "charts" in the 1950's but television as well. Most of us had our own TV series. In fact, Dinah and I had our own shows for several seasons.

Then something awful happened. We became "older girls."

In an industry where everyone was suddenly competing to appeal to the "youth market," we were guilty of the most serious sin of all—having past our 30th birthdays. It seemed as though the only way to be seen on television, until last year, was to be a long-haired, short-skirted teeniebopper who either gurgled with a guru or went "up, up and away" with the Rolling Stones.

The result, unfortunately, was that a lot of girls in micromini skirts were revealed to have micromini talents as well. Spirited away from the electronic sanctuary of a modern recording studio, and thrust before the TV cameras, they could do little but look sexy as they frugged and bugaloosed and desperately lip-synched their latest "hits."

Others, with marvelous potential, were pushed too far too fast. At a time when they should have been learning how to create that delicate rapport between performer and audience—which distinguishes an adequate club singer from a star—they were being rushed from one TV guest shot to another.

Dinah Shore made several guest appearances last season. Viewers also saw more of Peggy Lee. And Ella Fitzgerald—who's the first to admit that miniskirts just don't come in her size—was one of TV's busiest, most ingratiating personalities.

Next year, I suspect, you'll hear even more from us "older girls." I have always enjoyed television; I still do.

Renegotiation Board's Authority Has Expired

WASHINGTON (AP) — The authority of the Renegotiation Board, only independent government agency empowered to recover excess profits on defense and space contracts, expired this week while a bill to renew it remained tabled in the Senate Finance Committee.

Since its organization 17 years ago, the Renegotiation Board has recovered $952 million in excess profits, and claims that its existence has spurred contractors to voluntarily return another $1.3 billion.

The board did not go out of business when its authorization act expired Sunday midnight. Chairman Lawrence E. Hartwig said it has enough of a work backlog to keep it operable for another two years.

And appropriations voted by Congress for the fiscal year that started Monday provides funds for the board until at least next summer.

However, if the Renegotiation Act is not renewed, profits realized by defense and space contractors after June 30 would not be subject to renegotiation—the process by which the federal government retrieves excess payments.

The House approved and sent to the Senate on May 27 a bill which would renew the Renegotiation Act for three years. The Senate Finance Committee discussed the measure in executive session June 12 then set it aside.

said a committee staff member, until "additional information" was gathered.

The committee spokesman said Monday that much of the information, which concerned exemptions from the act's jurisdiction, had been obtained but that the committee probably couldn't resume work on the bill until next week.

"As long as the act is renewed soon and as long as that renewal is retroactive, we should be okay," said Chairman Hartwig in an interview.

The Renegotiation Board was set up under the Renegotiation Act of 1951 for two years to examine profits from the Korean War. The act has been renewed seven times, each time for two years.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., who led a House fight this year to renew and strengthen the board, has estimated that for every dollar the board has spent, it has returned $18 to the Treasury.

As it was constituted under the old act, the board has jurisdiction over companies which do in excess of $1 million in renegotiable sales a year to the Defense Department, Army, Navy, Air Force, Maritime Administration, General Services Administration, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Atomic Energy Commission and Federal Aviation Agency.

Some cars are talking big price slashes. They know what they're worth.

Pity the poor car that doesn't become attractive until it has its price cut. Pity it. But don't buy it.

Buy instead a car that sales figures prove is attractive all year long. Chevrolet, America's favorite. (Now all the more attractive, with special savings on V8 engines and automatic transmissions.)

A car with windshield wipers that stay out of sight until you turn them on, and an automatic alarm system that warns you not to leave your keys.

The simple truth is: we can afford to put more into each car we build, because we build more cars.

Putting you first keeps us first. See your Chevrolet dealer last, for good sound savings on all 1968 models.

You get the biggest year-end savings just where you'd expect to.
